2009-10 U.S. Women's National Team vs. WCHA All-Stars

Friday, Sept. 25, 2009 • Xcel Energy Center • 7:05 p.m. CT

WELCOME TO THE QWEST TOUR: The Qwest Tour, presented by Qwest Communications, features the 2009-10 U.S. Women's National Team playing a 10-game domestic tour that ends just prior to the start of the 2010 Olympic Winter Games in Vancouver, B.C. During that time, the U.S. squad faces off against Canada; Finland; all-star teams from the WCHA, Hockey East and ECAC Hockey; and various other NCAA Division I women's ice hockey teams. For more details, including the full schedule, ticket information and Qwest All Access content, visit QwestTour.com.

TONIGHT'S GAME: The U.S. Women's National Team takes on the Western Collegiate Hockey Association All-Stars in the first game of the Qwest Tour tonight at the Xcel Energy Center (capacity: 18,064), home of the National Hockey League's Minnesota Wild. The U.S. squad is coming off a championship run at the 2009 Hockey Canada Cup, which took place from Aug. 31-Sept. 6 in Vancouver, B.C. Meanwhile, the WCHA team was formed for this game and is made-up of 22 of the league's top players from all eight member schools (Bemidji State University, University of Minnesota, University of Minnesota Duluth, Minnesota State University, University of North Dakota, The Ohio State University, St. Cloud State University and the University of Wisconsin).

USA vs. WCHA: The U.S. Women's National Team has faced off with the WCHA All-Stars on four previous occasions, twice during the Hilton Family Skate to 2006 Tour and twice during the Visa Skate to Salt Lake Tour. The last meeting took place on Oct. 1, 2005, when Team USA posted a 5-2 victory. The teams also played the day prior, with the U.S. earning a 5-1 win on Sept. 30. During the 2001-02 pre-Olympic tour, Team USA garnered 3-0 and 6-1 victories over the WCHA on Oct. 5 and 6.

TEAM TIES: The 2009-10 U.S. Women's National Team has many WCHA ties, including 15 players who have skated for a WCHA program. Four of the 15 still have NCAA eligibility remaining after the 2009-10 season, including Jocelyne and Monique Lamoureux, who will play for the University of North Dakota for three more years after transferring from the University of Minnesota. In addition, Meghan Duggan has one year remaining at the University of Wisconsin and Hilary Knight has two seasons left with the Badgers. There are a total of eight from Wisconsin (Duggan, Molly Engstrom, Angie Keseley, Erika Lawler, Knight, Jessie Vetter, Kerry Weiland and Jinelle Zaugg-Siergiej), three from the University of Minnesota (Natalie Darwitz, Rachael Drazan and Gigi Marvin), two from North Dakota (J. Lamoureux and M. Lamoureux) and one each from the University of Minnesota Duluth (Jenny Potter) and The Ohio State University (Lisa Chesson). Beyond playing at Minnesota, Darwitz also became an assistant coach for her alma mater starting last season (she is taking a one-year coaching hiatus to train with Team USA). Finally, Mark Johnson is the head women's ice hockey coach.

NO. 1 IN THE WORLD: After the 2009 world championship, the U.S. overtook Canada as the No. 1 team in the world for the first time since the system was introduced in 2004. Despite the current No. 1 world ranking, Team USA will enter the 2010 Olympics as the No. 2 based on the 2008 world rankings.

RECAPPING THE HOCKEY CANADA CUP: Just five days after the 2009-10 U.S. Women's National Team was named, the 23-player squad traveled to Vancouver, B.C., for the 2009 Hockey Canada Cup, which took place at GM Place from Aug. 31-Sept. 6 and served as a test event for the 2010 Olympics. After a preliminary-round opening loss to Finland (3-2), Team USA bounced back with wins over Sweden (7-0) and Canada (4-2) to finish first after round-robin play. A 4-0 blanking of the Finns in the semfinals sent Team USA to the championship game against Canada, where the Americans came out the 2-1

WOMEN'S NATIONAL FESTIVAL: USA Hockey held its Women's National Festival in Blaine, Minn., from Aug. 19-23. From the 41 Festival attendees, the 23-player 2009-10 U.S. Women's National Team was selected on Monday, Aug. 24. That team began centralization in Blaine starting on Sept. 14 and will continue training in the Twin Cities suburb until the Vancouver Games, with the final 21-player Olympic roster being named in mid-December.

SUCCESS ON THE WORLD STAGE: The U.S. Women's National Program has enjoyed unprecedented success in the last two years. In 2008, the U.S. Women's National Team captured its second-ever world title with back-to-back wins over Canada at the 2008 IIHF World Women's Championship in Harbin, China. That came on the heels of the U.S. Women's National Under-18 Team's gold-medal fete at the first-ever IIHF World Women's U18 Championship in January 2008. Later that year, the U.S. Women's Select Team earned its first Four Nations Cup championship since 2003 with a thrilling shootout victory over Canada in Lake Placid, N.Y. The success continued in 2009, first with the U.S. Women's National Under-18 Team defending its world title in Fussen, Germany, in January, then with the U.S. Women's National Team matching the accomplishment in Hameenlinna, Finland in April.

LAST APRIL AT WORLDS: After outscoring Japan and Russia by acombined score of 16-0 in the preliminary round, the U.S. Women's National Team earned the top spot in its group for the qualifying round. The U.S. defeated Finland, 7-0, in its first qualifying-round game and, in the process, clinched a spot in the gold-medal game against Canada for the 12th consecutive year. Team USA lost its qualifying-round matchup against Canada, but topped the Canadians in the gold-medal game, 4-1, to claim its second consecutive world championship and third in the last five years

IIHF WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS IN THE U.S.: The United States is hosting the 2010 IIHF World Women's U18 Championship from March 27-April 3 in the Chicago suburb of Woodridge, Ill. (just announced today). In addition, USA Hockey will host the 2011 IIHF World Under-20 Championship in Buffalo, N.Y., and the 2012 IIHF World Women's Championship in a location yet to be determined.

MILESTONES

- Julie Chu is approaching 150 career assists for the U.S. She currently stands at 144. Meanwhile, Angela Ruggiero is a mere eight points away from point No. 200.
- Angie Keseley is looking for her first U.S. point, Rachael Drazan is going for goal No. 1 and Brianne McLaughlin is seeking her first appearance in net for the senior U.S. team.

TIDBITS

- Molly Schaus made 27 saves en route to her first career win against the Canadian senior team on Sept. 3 with a 4-2 victory. She also earned her second career U.S. shutout with a 7-0 blanking of Sweden on Sept. 1 and led the Hockey Canada Cup with a 1.00 GAA and .951 save percentage. Jessie Vetter posted her fourth career U.S. shutout on Sept. 5 against Finland and ranked second at the Hockey Canada Cup with a 1.34 GAA and .948 save percentage.
- The Americans have won five of the last seven games against Canada.
- Natalie Darwitz led the U.S. and ranked third on the Hockey Canada Cup scoring list with six points (2-4). Meanwhile, Caitlin Cahow led defensemen with five points (1-4).

TEAM NOTES

NEW LOOK FOR 2010: The 2010 U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team is guaranteed to have quite a new look from the 2006 Games, with a minimum of 15 Olympic rookies on the squad. A total of six players on the U.S. roster have competed in the Olympic Winter Games on at least one occasion. Three-time Olympians Jenny Potter and Angela Ruggiero lead the pack, while Julie Chu and Natalie Darwitz are two-time Olympians and Caitlin Cahow and Molly Engstrom made their Olympic debuts in 2006.

GOLDEN EXPERIENCE: Nineteen members of Team USA were part of the gold medal-winning U.S. contingent that competed in the 2009 IIHF World Women's Championship. All but three U.S. players (Angie Keseley, Brianne McLaughlin, Jinelle Zaugg-Siergiej) have captured a world title (Zaugg-Siergiej has competed in a world championship, but not won gold). Members of Team USA have made a total of 71 previous appearances in the event, led by Angela Ruggiero, who has played in nine world championships, and Natalie Darwitz and Jenny Potter, who have each played in the tournament seven times.

FIRST-TIMERS: Two athletes are on the national team for the first time, including forward Angie Keseley; and goaltender Brianne McLaughlin. Brianne has competed for the U.S. Women's Under-22 Select Team at the 2008 Under-22 Series, while Keseley is making her Team USA debut.

AGE FACTOR: The average age of Team USA is 23.5 years old and, for the first time ever, there are no teenagers on the team in an Olympic year. Hilary Knight is the youngest at 20 years and one month, while Jenny Potter is the oldest at 30 years and seven months. Knight is a junior in college, while Jocelyne and Monique Lamoureux are nine days older than Knight but are sophomores. Meanwhile Potter is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Duluth and has two children. Knight and Potter are exactly 10 years, six months apart in age.

IN RESIDENCY: A total of 10 players on the U.S. squad were members of the 2008-09 U.S. Women's Select Team as part of a residency program based at the National Sports Center in Blaine, Minn., that USA Hockey created to prepare post-collegiate members of the U.S. Women's National Program for international competition leading up to the 2010 Olympic Winter Games. There, Team USA played in a weekly elite men's league (Minnesota Wild Adult Hockey League), while also seeing action against NCAA Division I women's teams, high school boys' teams and the Minnesota Whitecaps.

LEAGUE CHAMPS: Eight members of Team USA played at least part-time for the Minnesota Whitecaps of the Western Women's Hockey League in 2008-09, while also taking part in USA Hockey's residency program. Jenny Potter was named the league MVP, as the team captured the WWHL championship and advanced to the title game of the National Canadian Women's Championship, which pitted the top two teams from the WWHL against the top pair from the Canadian Women's Hockey League. Potter was also named the tournament MVP, while Caitlin Cahow was best defenseman and Julie Chu was dubbed top role model.

UNIVERSITY LIFE: Thirteen players on the U.S. team played NCAA Division I women's hockey during the 2008-09 season, while the remaining 10 all previously played Div. I hockey. In 2008-09, five were part of the University of Wisconsin team (coached by Mark Johnson), while four played for the University of Minnesota, two were at Boston College and one each was at the University of New Hampshire and Robert Morris University. Six players still have NCAA egilibility remaining (Meghan Duggan, Hilary Knight, Jocelyne Lamoureux, Monique Lamoureux, Molly Schaus and Kelli Stack)

CHAMPIONS ALL AROUND: In total, nine members of Team USA have won NCAA titles, led by Angie Keseley, Erika Lawler and Jessie Vetter, who each have three championships with the University of Wisconsin (2006, 2007, 2009). Meghan Duggan (2007, 2009) and Jinelle Zaugg-Siergiej (2006, 2007) were each part of two of those championship teams at Wisconsin, while Hilary Knight was on hand in 2009. Meanwhile, Natalie Darwitz won back-to-back titles with the University of Minnesota (2004, 2005), Jenny Potter was an NCAA champion with the University of Minnesota Duluth in 2003 and Angela Ruggiero captured the national title with Harvard University in 1999.

PLAYER/COACHES: Natalie Darwitz was an assistant coach for the University of Minnesota women's ice hockey program during the 2008-09 season, and will continue in that role after the 2010 Games. Last season, she coached U.S. teammates Rachael Drazan, Gigi Marvin and both Jocelyne and Monique Lamoureux. In 2007-08, Julie Chu served in the same role at the University of Minnesota Duluth.

FAMILY AFFAIR: Jenny Potter is the lone mother on the U.S. roster. She has a daughter, Madison "Maddy," who is eight years old; and a son, Cullen, who is two. Her father, Dwayne Schmidgall, is the founder and coach of the Minnesota Whitecaps in the Western Women's Hockey League where Potter plays. Her husband, Rob, is also a Whitecaps' coach and helps Potter on a day-to-day basis on the ice and in the weight room. He is also the coach for the Coon Rapids (Minn.) High School girls' team. Potter and her husband team up for Potter's Pure Hockey, a series of training camps and sessions for hockey players of all ages.

ALL IN THE FAMILY: Twin sisters Jocelyne and Monique Lamoureux are the first set of twins (or sisters) ever on a U.S. Women's National Team. They are also teammates at the University of North Dakota (they transferred from the University of Minnesota after the 2008-09 season) and come from a hockey-crazed family. Their brother, Philippe, plays in the National Hockey League's Buffalo Sabres' system, and formerly played for North Dakota and for Team USA in the 2004 Viking Cup. Meanwhile, another brother, Jacques, plays for the Air Force Academy, and another, Pierre-Paul, is a student-assistant coach for the North Dakota men's team. Finally, their youngest brother, Mario, is a sophomore on the North Dakota hockey team and played for Team USA at the 2006 Viking Cup, and their father, Jean-Pierre, played for North Dakota (1979-82).

CLOSE KNIT: Julie Chu is very close with her family, which lives in Fairfield, Conn. Her mother is half Chinese and half Puerto Rican and her father is from Hong Kong, and they travel to nearly every tournament their daughter plays in, no matter what part of the world. Chu, her parents and her sister and brother all have matching tattoos of the Olympic rings, along with Chu's number 13

TOP HONORS: In 2009, Jessie Vetter joined the short list of 12 winners of the Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award, presented annually by The USA Hockey Foundation to the top player in NCAA Division I women's ice hockey. Julie Chu (2007) and Angela Ruggiero (2004) have also both won the Award. Hilary Knight, Monique Lamoureux, Erika Lawler, Gigi Marvin and Molly Schaus were all among this year's top-10 candidates for the award. Five other members of Team USA have previously been in either the top 10 or top three for the Award, including Caitlin Cahow, Natalie Darwitz, Molly Engstrom, Jenny Potter and Karen Thatcher.

THE JOHNSON FILE: Mark Johnson, who will lead the U.S. Women's National Team through the 2010 Olympic Winter Games, is among the most accomplished coaches in the world today.

Johnson has been involved as a head coach in the U.S. Women's National Program the past three seasons. In January of 2009, he guided the U.S. National Under-18 Team to the gold medal at the International Ice Hockey Federation World Women's U18 Championship. He followed it up by guiding the U.S. Women's National Team to gold at the IIHF World Women's Championship just three months later.

Johnson also served as head coach for the U.S. Women's Under-22 Select Team in 2007-08 and guided Team USA to a second-place finish at the 2006 Four National Cup, as well as the silver medal at the 2007 IIHF World Women's Championship.

As part of his role as head coach of the 2010 U.S. Olympic Women's Ice Hockey Team, Johnson will guide the 2009-10 U.S. Women's National Team during the Qwest Tour from September 2009 through February 2010 in the lead-up to the Vancouver Games, as well as at the 2009 Women's Four Nations Cup. Prior to working with the women, Johnson twice served as an assistant coach for the U.S. Men's National Team in the IIHF Men's World Championship (2000, 2002).

Beyond his numerous roles with Team USA, Johnson is the head women's ice hockey coach at the University of Wisconsin. There, Johnson has taken the Badger program to national prominence in his first six years at the helm. Under his guidance, the Badgers have advanced to the NCAA championship game in each of the past four seasons and captured the title in three of those years (2006, 2007, 2009). Since the 2005-06 campaign, Wisconsin has recorded 135 wins, more than any other team in the nation.

Meanwhile, Johnson has represented the United States as a player in 13 international tournaments, including eight world championships. Most notably, he led the 1980 U.S. Olympic Men's Ice Hockey Team to the gold medal, tallying a team-leading 11 points, including two goals in the "Miracle On Ice" game against the Soviet Union. Johnson enjoyed an 11-year National Hockey League career, during which time he racked up 508 points in 669 games.

Joining Johnson behind the bench are as assistant coaches are Dave Flint, head women's ice hockey coach at Northeastern University, and Jodi McKenna, head women's ice hockey coach at Wesleyan University.
